

Please don't mess with NJ do not call list. It has been a god send to not have the dozens of phone calls each night. I also had the awful experience of an automatic dialer getting stuck on my number. After 2 weeks of having non stop hang-up calls, I was informed by the phone company that this was most probably a telemarketer with a stuck dialer. My only recourse was to wait it out or change my number. It lasted for a month before someone unstuck the dialer and I was freed. It is additionally terrible when you have sick parents, you can't just ignore the phone so I had to pick up each of those hundreds of calls.
